PRESS RELEASE

Governor conveys greetings to the Press Media

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh Brig. (Dr.) B.D. Mishra (Retd.) has conveyed his warm greetings to the growing media fraternity of the State on the occasion of National Press Day and expressed his hope that the occasion will reinforce the commitment of the people towards freedom of press.

In his message, the Governor said that the Press Media is truly the Fourth Pillar of the democracy. It keeps the readers aware and abreast with the happenings around them as also obligates transparency and accountability amongst the public figures and the people. Today, the media is actively playing positive role in all walks of life. It is involved in every details of public affairs encompassing all aspects of human behaviour, be it legislative, administrative, judicial, social, law or order.

The Press Media, in our country has achieved very high standard of societal responsibilities and it is actively promoting the news dissemination. It is gratifying to see that the media has been successful in giving itself much needed progressive turn, keeping in pace with the changing times of globalization. Media is becoming Informative, educative, perspective disseminator and platform for expression, the Governor further said.

I am confident that Press Media of India will continue to progress and achieve the top niche in journalism by orienting itself to face the challenges to national unity, integrity, women and girl child, the Governor reposed.

PRO to Governor
