PRESS RELEASE

GOVERNOR CALLS UPON THE PEOPLE FOR BETTER COORDINATION WITH THE WORK AGENCIES

Governor of Arunachal Pradesh Lt. Gen (Retd) Nirbhay Sharma in his maiden tour to Upper Subansiri District visited Daporijo and remote border administrative centre of Taksing on 20th January 2014. Governor, who was accompanied by First Lady of the State Smti Jyotsna Sharma, also addressed a public meeting at Daporijo.

In his address, Governor called upon the people to participate and coordinate with the work agencies and government departments in implementation of developmental projects. He said that when people and government agencies join hands, no challenge is too big.

Governor said that the people must make some sacrifices to ensure completion of air and road connectivity projects, which will boost the tourism and horticulture sectors, which has huge potential in the district. He cautioned that if they only look at their short-term interest, their long-time interest will be diminished.

Governor appealed to the elders of the society to work together to ensure better future for the young generations.

While appreciating the people for their enthusiastic participation in the recent concluded Panchayat election, Governor said that Panchayat Raj Institute leaders have a very important role to play in ensuring education, health care and fruits of development reach to the people.

Later before leaving Daporijo, interacting with district heads of departments, Governor said that there is need for special focus in the border areas and border villages. These places are thinning out, which is a very serious matter and needs to be stopped. It can be halted by ensuring that development reaches to these people along with basic health care and education.

Governor advised the officers to see that developmental projects are environment friendly. He stressed on synergy among various works departments and other agencies. Governor also warned of possibility of diverting fund from slow progressing projects to projects which are maintaining the timeframe in future by the funding agency.

Governor said that police department has a big role to play in positively engaging the youth of the State. He suggested that the department organise sports activities and vocation trainings for the youths, which in turn will help the youth towards healthy habits and practices.

Earlier, a power point presentation on overall development scenarios with special focus on Trans Arunachal Highway and Hydropower was presented by Upper Subansiri Deputy Commissioner Shri Tahung Taggu.
