

GOVERNOR'S SECRETARIAT ARUNACHAL PRADESH ITANAGAR

PRESS RELEASE

Governor emphasizes for comprehensive and holistic provision for observing the last rites

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh Shri P.B. Acharya visited the lone cremation ground for Itanagar Capital Complex, Karsingsa, 27 km from Itanagar on 14th March 2017.

Interacting with the local MLA cum Parliamentary Secretary Shri Techu Kaso along with members of Itanagar Municipal Council, the Governor said that it is high time there must be a collective humane approach in building the very important public asset of the Capital Complex area.

Referring to an instance of the demise of a gardener of Raj Bhavan, Itanagar recently, the Governor said that people come to the State and render their valuable service to the State. But after their demise, unfortunately their mortal remains are taken to neighbouring State for cremation, covering long distance and incurring huge amount money, time and energy to the next to the kin during their hour of grief.

The Governor advised that there must be a comprehensive and holistic provision for observing the last rites. For this, a proper environment in all respect must be created in and around the cremation area.

While giving his observation on the proposed developing area, the Governor suggested that different zones may be earmarked for different communities so that communal belief and practices are respected.

Chief Councilor of Itanagar Municipal Council Smti Kipa Kaku, Deputy Chief Councilor Shri Tarh Nachung and Chief Municipal Executive Officer, Shri Habung Lampung were present on the occasion amongst other.
