Governor meets his Assam Counterpart

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh Brig. (Dr.) B.D. Mishra (Retd.) met the Governor of Assam Prof. Jagdish Mukhi at Raj Bhavan, Guwahati on 4th March 2022. They discussed about strengthening the goodwill amongst the people of both neighbouring States.

The Governor shared his optimism that the both Chief Ministers of Arunachal Pradesh and Assam are working seriously, the boundary issues will be solved amicably in near future. He said that it will reinforce the age-old amity amongst the people.

The Governor also shared his concern about the Arunachali students stranded in Ukraine. He expressed his hope that as apex leadership in the central government under the leadership of Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi is working round the clock for their evacuation, they will reach home safely.

The Governors also discussed about various avenues, where the people of both Arunachal Pradesh and Assam can work together for their mutual benefits. He suggested for more cultural and educational exchange programmes for promoting the cultural richness of the region for the youth of the States.

They shared their thoughts on preservation of natural environment, flora and fauna and archaeological assets and at the same time emphasised on expediting the implementation process of developmental projects.

The First Lady of the State Smt Neelam Misra and the First Lady of Assam Smt Prem Mukhi were present in the meeting.
