

GOVERNOR'S SECRETARIAT
ARUNACHAL PRADESH
ITANAGAR

Press Communiqué

Governor interacts with the Youth leaders

National Youth Festival is a celebration of ideas, culture, creativity, and youthful energy: Governor

Governor exhorted the youth to give their very best as proud and responsible ambassadors of Arunachal Pradesh

Governor calls upon the youth to project a positive, confident, and progressive image of Arunachal Pradesh, both within the country and on global platforms

Governor urges the youth to explore and champion concepts of smart villages, cleanliness, and the optimal use of technology in governance

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh, Lt. General K.T. Parnaik, PVSM, UYSM, YSM (Retd.), interacted with the State's youth leaders at Lok Bhavan, Itanagar, on 6th January 2026. He also flagged them off for their participation in the 29th National Youth Festival to be held in the national capital.

The Governor conveyed his best wishes for their participation in the 29th National Youth Festival 2026, under the inspiring platform of the Viksit Bharat Young Leaders' Dialogue. He said that the festival is not just an event, but is a celebration of ideas, culture, creativity, and youthful energy.

The Governor exhorted the youth to give their very best as proud and responsible ambassadors of Arunachal Pradesh. He reminded them that wherever life may take them, they carry with them the soul of the State, its ancient cultural heritage, vibrant traditions, and deeply rooted values of harmony with nature and respect for one another. He urged them to take pride in their identity and to confidently share the unique story of Arunachal Pradesh with the world.

The Governor further underlined the importance of perception management in today's interconnected world. He called upon the youth to project a positive, confident, and progressive image of Arunachal Pradesh, both within the country and on global platforms. He urged them to emerge as voices of hope, harmony, and responsible change, shaping a brighter and more promising future for the State.

The Governor encouraged the youth to remain open-minded learners, to observe best practices from other regions, and to bring back fresh ideas, particularly in the areas of skill development, emerging industries, games and sports, talent identification, and innovation across all levels of educational institutions.

The Governor also sensitized the youth about the Viksit Bharat – Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) [VB-G RAM G] Act, 2025, describing it as a landmark and forward-looking reform aimed at strengthening rural livelihoods. He emphasized that this initiative is closely aligned with the national vision of Viksit Bharat @2047 and holds immense potential to transform villages into centres of productivity, self-reliance, and inclusive growth.

Advising the young leaders to think beyond the present and prepare for the future, the Governor urged them to explore and champion concepts such as smart villages, cleanliness, and the optimal use of technology in governance. He encouraged the youth to become innovators and problem-solvers who use digital tools to address local challenges.

Earlier, the Secretary of Youth Affairs, Government of Arunachal Pradesh, Shri Abu Tayeng, briefed the Governor on the objectives, activities, and broader vision of the Youth Festival, highlighting its role in nurturing leadership, creativity, and national spirit among the youth. He outlined the efforts being made by the Department to provide meaningful platforms for young people to express themselves and develop their potential.

During the interaction, the participating youth enthusiastically shared their aspirations, questions, and personal experiences with the Governor, reflecting their hopes, concerns, and dreams for the future. They spoke about the challenges they face and the opportunities they seek, creating a lively and meaningful exchange of ideas. The Governor listened attentively and responded with guidance drawn from his experience, offering practical advice, encouragement, and clarity on various issues confronting the youth.

The youth expressed their heartfelt gratitude to the Governor for inviting them to Lok Bhavan and for giving them this rare and memorable opportunity to interact with him personally. They described the interaction as inspiring and motivating, and conveyed that the Governor's words had strengthened their confidence and renewed their resolve to contribute positively to the development of Arunachal Pradesh and the nation.

The interaction programme was attended by officials of the Department of Youth Affairs, led by the Director, Shri Ramesh Linggi, along with special invitees from diverse fields of society, including education, sports, culture, and social service. Parents of the participating youth were also present, reflecting the collective support and shared pride in the achievements and aspirations of the young participants.

PRO to Governor
Arunachal Pradesh
ITANAGAR, January 6, 2026